Albertha Bragg, PCCNA Memphis

- We opened with a time of prayer and worship, inviting God's presence, led by Mike Leake
- There was a time of introduction and sharing, all participated, both virtual and in person.
- There was a discussion of future direction for our Prayer Commission; how we can be the most effective, and how can we partner with God?
  - Les Markham suggested getting specific prayer requests from the larger PCCNA organization and focusing on those during our bimonthly Zoom meetings
  - The Prayer Commission should pray both personally and prophetically
  - We should continue to focus on each entity within PCCNA having prayer coordinators, including the non-denominational ministries

- The Prayer Commission should consider a united PCCNA prayer platform (social media related?) that includes the ability to submit prayer requests as well as include testimonies of answered prayer – seeing results will encourage people
- There was a discussion of the points to be shared in the main meeting regarding the Great Commandment, to Love God and Love Others. Several points were formulated to share during group discussion. This was shared in main meeting by Carol Leake
- Gerard Long shared about Prayer at the Heart, a movement led by former PCCNA Prayer Commission chair, Doug Small. Gerard is very passionate about this move of God, and he inspired us in sharing about it.
- Arrangements were made for on-site prayer in the Port Room at the hotel at 8:45 am. All conference registrants were invited. Prayer request cards were placed on all tables in conference meetings so attendees could put in prayer requests. These are to be prayed over in the morning prayer times by Prayer Commission.
